PROGRAM OUTCOMES

- Oral pathology is the speciality of dentistry and discipline of pathology that deals with the nature, identification and management of diseases affecting the oral and maxillofacial regions. It is the science that investigates the cause process and affects of these diseases.
- PO1: The student would demonstrate sound theoretical knowledge and understanding of basic relevant sciences namely, the applied anatomy of the face and oral cavity, the basic physiologic and pathologic processes and the basic of pharmacological applications.
- PO2: The student would be proficient in histopathological investigations of the physiological and pathological diseases of the head and neck region.
- PO3: The student would possess ample understanding and knowledge of histopathological diagnosis and its limitations.
- PO4: The student would be proficient in detailed examination of slides, identification of normal and abnormal findings and technique involved in conventional and advanced pressing method of preparing slides.
- PO5: Apply high moral and ethical standards while carrying out histopathological investigations.

- PO6: The student would be proficient in describing the etiology, pathophysiology, histopathology, priciples of diagnosis and management of common orofacial disorders.
- PO7: The student would be proficient in formulating a differential diagnosis on the basis of clinical and histopathological findings.
- PO8: The student develop skills and ability to dignose the disease on the basis of histopathological findings and correlate it with the literature.
- PO9: the student would be proficient in analysing the microscopic details of each and every findings.
- PO10: The student would be able to diagnose the diseases correctly and plan the treatment according to it.